Middle East Report

France Blames Nasser, Russians For Canal Crisis

By Ron Caplan

"France is fully conscious of all the difficult and dangerous consequences of her action, in the Middle East, but she is also conscious of the consequences of inaction." This was emphasized by His Excellency, Mr. Francis Lacoste, the French Ambassador to Canada, at a meeting of the Canadian Club yesterday.

The Ambassador stated that only a "blind man" could not see the coming of the breaking point in the Middle East. He attributed the state of tension which culminated in the seizure of the Suez Canal to four main factors. The first of these, he said, was the growing tendency towards nationalism in Asia and Africa, especially North Africa.

Coming of Nasser

The coming of Nasser and his ambitions, which the Ambassador said, are not unlike those of Hitler, contributed to the tension. Nasser, he said, wished to extend his domain past the borders of Egypt.

Racial Prejudice

The racial and religious prejudice in French North Africa, stated Mr. Lacoste, was "aided and abetted" by Cairo. He said that when he was in Morocco, Egyptian radio was exhorting the peoples of North Africa to "rise up and kill the French." Broadcasts from Hungary (then a Communist satellite) urged the same thing.

The fourth factor outlined by Mr. Lacoste was the Russian Middle East policy. He stated that this policy was prompted by Russia's desire for ports, as well as for reasons of bolstering their economy and the desire for oil.

Western Influence

Mr. Lacoste pointed out that whatever mistakes the West has

TWO MCGILL STUDENTS INJURED IN COLLISION

by Dan Baran

Two students of McGill were among those injured by traffic accidents last weekend as the annual Safety Week got underway.

Early Saturday morning, after taking home their dates, two McGill students were driving to their fraternity to spend the next few days.

The small Hillman car, driven by Stan Fisher, a third Commerce student, also held Dave Gowing, a second year Artsman. They were passing the corner of Marcell and N.D.G. Ave. Then came disaster.

Bulck Collision

A Bulck, carrying a married couple worried about the baby-sitter back at home, went through a stop sign and came to a screeching stop by crashing into the little Hillman.

The results of this accident are rather grim. Dave, unfortunately, suffered a fractured skull, concussion, crushed pelvis, and a ruptured bladder. It may take three months recuperation in the hospital to cure him. The driver, Stan

Fisher, was thrown out of the car, but was not injured as badly. He will only have to spend two weeks in bed. All that can be said is that this couldn't have happened to two nicer fellows.

Active On Campus

Dave Gowing is majoring in Marketing and Transportation. He served a successful term as the Commerce Electoral Officer, and has been extremely popular with his classmates.

Fig Leaf was only one of Stan's activities. He was co-chairman of the S.E.C. Awards Banquet and is now majoring in English at McGill.

Stan Fisher and Dave Gowing urgently need our help. What can you do? Send notes of encouragement, wished for recovery, anything to keep their hopes up in their darkest hours.

Mail everything to Dave Gowing, at the Montreal General Hospital, and Stan Fisher, 4211 Kensington Ave., Montreal 28. You can bet your bottom dollar they'll appreciate your thoughts.

Hungarian Government Refuses United Nations Observers

United Nations, N.Y., Nov. 3 — (UP) — The Kremlin-controlled Budapest government refused again today to let the UN send observers to Hungary but proposed to discuss the proposal later.

The United States and 13 other countries then urged the general assembly to adopt another resolution giving Hungary a "last chance" to admit observers by Friday. There were blunt warnings of stronger actions if Hungary did not comply. Cuban Ambassador Emilio Nunez-Portuondo said the next step would be to expel from the United Nations the representatives of Hungary's puppet government. He has indicated he would sponsor such a resolution.

The Hungarian government of Janos Kadar said it was willing to discuss the situation with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in Budapest "at a later date appropriate for both parties." U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told the general assembly this was "unsatisfactory."

The Hungarian situation got hotter as the Middle East situation began to ease. Hammarskjold announced he instructed Maj. Gen. E.L.M. Burns to make his U.N. emergency force ready to take over Port Said from the British and French by the middle of December.

Canada Offers to Bring Refugee Students To UBC

Vancouver, Dec. 3 — (BUP) — An entire section of the University of Budapest will be transplanted to British Columbia if the members accept a Canadian offer to move here in a body.

The plan was worked out by Immigration Minister J.W. Pickers-gill in Vienna and Fisheries Minister James Sinclair in Vancouver. Under the scheme, 29 professors and instructors and 285 students of the University's School of Forestry will come to B.C. as a group late this month or early in January.

They will be established in temporary quarters in Powell River for under the supervision of the University of British Columbia.

The Hungarian faculty members will resume teaching here and UBC will provide instructors to teach English to both faculty and students of the refugee school.

Editorial

If They Won't Vote, Let Them Not

Ever since democratic student government was instituted around here, the worldly and public-minded people of this university have been making all sorts of gallant efforts to coax, cajole and even coerce their fellow students to get out and cast their hard-earned ballot on election day.

This year's shenanigans have proven to be no exception. Yesterday, we were confronted with slogans screaming vividly, "To Vote Is Not A Right But An Obligation" and "Students Get The Government They Vote For. VOTE!"

To us this is the height of irresponsibility — for to go around telling people who have no inclination to vote that they must get out and vote anyway strikes us as highly ridiculous. To coax a man to vote by waving a ballot box under his nose is to mock one of the hardest-won of all human rights.

A student who needs telling that it is his duty to vote is not yet fit to vote. Certainly we will agree that he should be adequately informed about the issues and the candidates but the final impetus to record his decision in mechanical terms must necessarily come from within, of his own volition.

As far as we are concerned, we would be just as pleased with a percentage participation of 40% of the eligible voters on Thursday if this was an informed, intelligent vote than with a full 100% gained by manipulation and coercion.

Let the slogan be "If you want to vote, Vote! — If you don't want to vote, Well, Don't!"

From The Ivory Tower

Men Are Men

"Men are men before they are lawyers or physicians or manufacturers; and if you make them capable and sensible men, they will make themselves capable and sensible lawyers and physicians."

In this sentence, John Stuart Mill defined the principle that has dominated liberal education. Mill wrote in a simpler day when technology was in its infancy, when the borders of all knowledge were narrower, when the demand for specialized training was less compelling. To the scientist or technician today, whose career demands the most rigorous specialization, a liberal education in the broadest sense has seemed almost out of reach.

Yet today more than ever before the scientist and engineer find themselves in positions involving great social responsibility. More than ever before they need a wisdom and perspective beyond the reach of technology.

Marco Polo; it is rumoured; liked to travel. Joseph Stalin did not and the world has paid much for the difference in taste. What struck the Western visitor to the Soviet Union, under and immediately after Stalin, was the natives' ignorance of life in other countries. "Is it true," a young girl at Moscow University asked me in the early winter of 1953, "that there is still child labour in Britain?" Ten minutes in the United Kingdom would have dispelled her fears, but she had as much opportunity to visit the moon.

Revolution Vs Evolution

Sir:
Your article on "Evolution" has a few good points about Europe's actions a few centuries ago, although I would like to point out that, after she acquired military, mobile and economic superiority over other cultures, her aim was certainly not destruction, although she did quite often destroy.

Her aim was much more selfish than this: Europe is very small as compared to North America and, since ages, there was an agglomeration of people living there. These people increased in numbers, an exploited the land. Eventually the food and other materials as well, became scarce. What is more natural therefore than try to go somewhere else and find food? I agree that this is not the only reason for their action, and that the one I gave is a little naive, but certainly is true.

You say that Europe hated the conquered lands which certainly was not so. Does a master hate his servant?

Another thing which is only natural is that Europe tried to convert other societies to the concepts and patterns of ideas of her own: when a man has a religion in which he strongly believes and which he thinks best, he naturally tries to make it known to others by more or less clumsy procedures. Often a group of people will act as one man.

I don't you think that the sentence "wholesale destruction of cultures by European man" is rather brutal and gross?

I do!

Had she not "destroyed", as you say, these cultures, somebody would which brings us right back to the law of the stronger. And after all, Europe realized her mistake and freed her colonies. This is how Canada got her freedom.

It is easy to say that North America did not make all those mistakes, which does not mean that she is superior but that she is intelligent enough to notice the consequences of those mistakes and avoid them. Do not forget that North America inherited the European culture, and had time to add to it, while Europe was busy, and still is, bringing order among her countries after the revolutions and the birth of new political ideas. If cult to understand the French attitude to Germany without having visited France.

Fresh Light

In addition to being a valuable corrective to our understanding of other countries, foreign travel throws light on our own national values and customs. Many of these we absorb as naturally as we do the air, and it is only when contrasts are pointed by foreign experience that we realize that they are not natural and are deserving therefore, of critical examination.

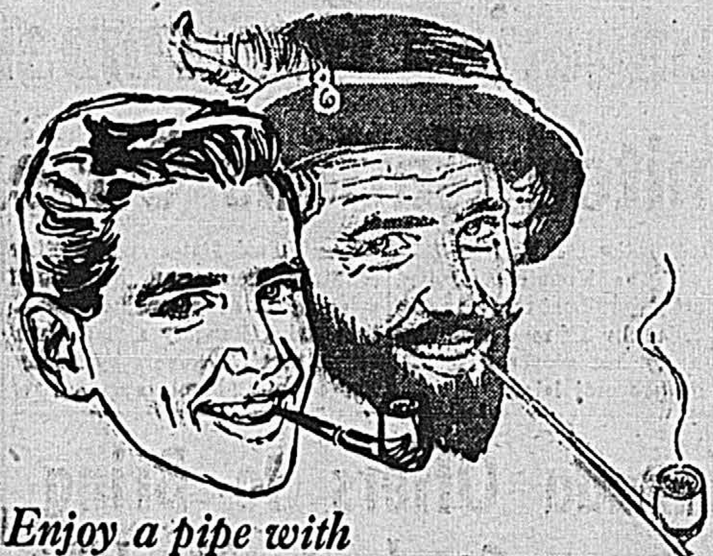

Terrific Fun

Nor, of course, is foreign travel all sobriety and education. It can also be, and usually is, terrific fun. This is especially true in retrospect, and my happiest memories are of being arrested by a drunken French policeman in Paris, of being shadowed by the secret police in Poland, and of travelling cattle class all the way from Spain to the Black Sea.

No Guarantee

One word of warning is necessary. Travel in itself, does not guarantee a better understanding of other countries. It seems to me for example that one of the most widely travelled of contemporary American politicians has the least understanding of what is happening outside the United States. Experience, as Aldous Huxley has said, is not what happens to a man, but rather what a man does with what happens to him. Thus travel provides opportunities rather than guarantees, and for full exploitation requires thought and planning. So finally, if your editor will permit it, a plug: the N.F.C.U.S. Travel Department by its foresight and experience can do much of your planning and consequently deserves your support. The wider, too, its support, the greater its opportunities.

Hats Galore

This is the famous International Hat Tree which will return to the McGill Treasure Van on Thursday December 6th. Among the hats are an Indian Headdress, a Turkish Fez, and the hat which Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent wore on his recent trip around the world. The Treasure Van had a very successful day yesterday, and will be open for the rest of the week on the second floor of the Union.

Labor Progressive Party Motion Defeated At Model Parliament

The first model parliament of the year was called to order last night with the Labor Progressive Party as Official Government. The Opposition consisted of 4 parties—the Liberals, the Progressive Conservatives, the C.C.F., and the Bloc Populaire.

Communist Policy

The first speaker was the leader of the L.P.P., Ray Favreau. The foreign policy of his government was based unequivocally upon the principle of national self determination, that is, the right of all nations, large or small, to full political and economic independence, and to determination of its own governmental form. Favreau insisted that all foreign troops be withdrawn from Egypt. He is of the opinion that no major power has the right to impose itself on another country's soil. These were the two resolutions under discussion.

Frank Vasilkioti, a Progressive

Conservative, stated that Britain and France should remain in Egypt until free passage through the Suez Canal and internationalization of the canal is guaranteed. He went on to say that Her Majesty's Government is not acting in the interests of the Canadian people.

John Farkas was the next speaker for the Government. He outlined the events that took place in Hungary and how the revolt started.

Stan Hartt, the Liberal member, said that the two motions were incompatible and therefore there should be no vote on the two resolutions. Ray Favreau then spoke again on behalf of the Government.

Stan Nemiroff, a C.C.F., sincerely doubted that the L.P.P. believes in the policies of national self determination.

Mr. Johnny Switzman, founder of the Labour Progressive Party at McGill, then spoke. Mr. Switzman said that Imperialists are trying to turn the clock of history back to avoid Socialism and the final result—Communism.

Norm Samuels, Arch Kushner, Mary Segal, all speaking for the Bloc Populaire, provided atmosphere and laughter to the debate. They proposed two amendments to the resolution. These were that the government should authorize M. Duplessis to send Quebec troops (Provincial Police) into the areas evacuated by the major powers, and that COTC contingents should be instructed by the UN representatives to withdraw along with the major powers from foreign soil.

The resolution and the Amendments were defeated at the final vote.

Dr. Otto Klineberg Speaks At Social Work Institute

Last weekend from Thursday to Saturday a staff institute was held at the McGill School of Social Work with Professor Otto Klineberg, discussing Social Science Theory and Method.

Dr. Klineberg, who earned his BA and MD at McGill University, proved a very able speaker on all various aspects of sociology and of the topics which he presented concerning the relationship of anthropology to applied social work.

On Thursday morning there was a general discussion of Social Work, followed in the afternoon by an address on Child Training and Adult Personality by D. Kline-berg. This was made interesting by illustrations of various reactions of childhood on the adults of certain native tribes in Africa, a subject on which he has done extensive research.

On Friday morning there was a discussion, and a address by Dr. Klineberg on the study of small groups; in the afternoon he spoke on Recent Advances in Social Sciences, Relevant to Social Work. This was extremely interesting as Prof. Klineberg has done much practical work in this field, including the proof that the Negro has equal intelligence to the white man in America if he has equal opportunity.

Saturday was the final day of the institute, and in the morning Dr. Klineberg summed up with a talk on Group Differences, Class, Race, Sex, and Age. In the afternoon there was a series of personal consultations with Dr. Klineberg, after which he returned to Columbia University.

NRC PHYSICIST TO SPEAK TOMORROW

The Student Physics Society at McGill is presenting Dr. D.K.C. MacDonald of the National Research Council who will speak on Brownian movement, Random Walks, Fluctuations, and Irreversibility.

Dr. MacDonald attended Edinburgh University where he obtained his Ph.D. He also wrote theses at Oxford on Random Noise, and low-temperature Physics. He has been in Canada for several years and is currently head of the Solid State and Low Temperature division of the National Research Council in Ottawa. The meeting will take place in room 306 of the Engineering Building, at 1 pm on Wednesday December 5th.

AUSTRALIAN CHANCELLOR IN MONTREAL

PSYCHMEN WIN

The Psychmen basketball team finally won a game last night, defeating the powerful Med 3a team. The main reason for this astounding victory was the fact that the Med boys were late and hence defaulted the contest.

In an exhibition contest that followed for the benefit of an interested crowd which had gathered, the Psychmen proved their superiority by toying with the Meds, holding them to 28 points, while scoring 18 themselves. (???)

German Consul To Speak On Foreign Policy

Dr. O. Soltmann, the Deputy Consul General of the Federal Republic of Germany, will address the German Club, on Thursday, December 8, on the subject "Side-glances on German Foreign Policies".

Dr. Soltmann, a graduate of the Universities of Rostock and Berlin as a Doctor of Law, is the resident Consul in Montreal. After working for a number of years with various German courts, Dr. Soltmann has been liaison officer between the American occupation forces in Germany and the German Senate, and has worked for two years with the German Department of External Affairs in Bonn. Since 1955, Dr. Soltmann has been representative of Germany in Canada.

In the course of his talk, the

C.U.S. Elections

Position of class president for first, second, and third years; and permanent class president for fourth year, will be contested in the election on Wednesday, Dec. 8th.

There are candidates for every position and John Hobbs, the faculty president, urges all people in the School of Commerce to get out and vote for the candidate of their choice. The polls will be open between 10 o'clock and 4 o'clock in the Arts Building.

Consul will speak on the re-establishment of German relations with the free world, general reconciliation, and the problems involved in German re-unification. Two movies will also be shown at the meeting, and refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome. The meeting will be held in English in the Union Club Room, December 6, 8:30 p.m.

UN Club Features Speech On Arabs

The McGill United Nations Club has sponsored a series of lectures on the Middle East. The third lecture of this series will be delivered at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 5th in the Ballroom by Mr. Gabriel Rezek. The topic will be "the economic and social developments in the Arab world."

Mr. Rezek is a WUS scholar from Lebanon. This is his first year at McGill and he is working for his M.A. in Economics. He is a graduate of the American University of Beirut, having received his B.A. in Economics in 1951. In December 1951, he joined the staff of the Beirut Head Quarters of the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine, as an econo-

Sadie Hawkins' Dance

McGILL WOMEN TO CELEBRATE ANNUAL DOGPATCH MAN CHASE

Take heed all you eligible males and beware of any young girl with that "come hither" gleam in her eyes and sweet disarming smile on her lips. Why? Well, it's that time of year again — the annual chase is on. Yes, it's "Sadie Hawkins" time.

The legendary chase, of Li'l Abner fame, where the girls ask the boys, will invade the campus this Friday, December 7, when the McGill Students' Union will sponsor the first campus wide "Sadie Hawkins" dance, to take place in the Union Ballroom.

The dance will not be limited to just McGill students, but will also embrace the University of Montreal and Sir George Williams' College. Students from all three colleges will thus get to know each other better and strengthen university relations.

Dancing will be to the music of Galt MacDermot and his orchestra from 9:30 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Here's your chance, gals, to nab that guy you've had your eye on. (if she's shy, "Sadie" will look the other way while you ask her.) Hags and Stags are most welcome.

Price for the evening will be 75¢ each, tickets to go-on-sale in R.V.C., the Nurses' Residence, at the Watershow Friday night, and at the door.

FRANCE BLAMES...

made in the past, it is important that Western influence in Africa is not replaced.

British misgivings on leaving the Suez canal zone have now been justified, said the Ambassador. No sooner had they left than Nasser seized the canal.

Thus, he said, France and Britain can not be accused of trying to seize territory. They are only interested in protecting their lifeline from the whims of a man who is already choking Western Europe by the blockage of the Canal.

Internal Expansion

On the other hand he pointed out that since the war France has been concentrating on building itself up by internal expansion and modernization. The war and occupation left France in a very poor economic state. Through aid from its allies and by enduring a Spartan economy, said Mr. Lacoste, the French now find themselves in a relatively good position, and if international problems are resolved, the prospects for the future are bright.

Modernization

Modernization of agricultural and industrial methods have been instrumental in bolstering the economy. Mr. Lacoste showed the difficulties of fostering modern methods of farming in a country, whose farmlands have long been broken up into small strips. However, in spite of this farm production has gone up appreciably. Industrial progress has been even greater, he said.

COMING EVENTS

Safety Week Commences

Safe Driving Week began last Sunday, with an appeal by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. However there have already been 6 fatalities in the Montreal district, and officials regard this as an inauspicious start, even though this represents a substantial decrease from the previous week-end's toll of 15.

The Canadian Highway Safety Conference has sent out a bulletin listing the many small ways in which an accident may be tempted, such as "the temptation to cut inside a blind curve," the "challenge of the beatable freight train at the next level crossing" and the "urge to pass everything in sight".

Costing rehearsals take place today starting at 1 p.m. in the Walter M. Stewart Room of the Union and 7:30 p.m. this evening in the Union Cafeteria. Please come at your appointed times as announced in yesterday's Daily. Dancers will be cast tomorrow, Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. in the Walter M. Stewart Room of the Union. Please be on time. The following are asked to attend and the final dancing cast will be chosen from these names: A. Hamel, M. Bright, J. Elliott, D. Matheson, L. Marshall, Z. Shane, J. Stone, I. Taub, P. Town, J. AGNOSTIC TO ANSWER BRYAN GREEN

A man whom the Unitarian Clubs of McGill and Sir George consider to be the "agnostic's Bryan Green" will be co-sponsored by these clubs in a forthcoming lecture. The speaker will be William Jenkins, who is best known on the Canadian scene as a founder and executive of the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs. This group, in co-operation with the CBC, sponsors the annual Couching Conference. Mr. Jenkins is also an executive of the Association for Civil Liberties. He is also well-known in Unitarian circles as the minister of the First Unitarian Congregation of Toronto. His visit is sponsored by the American Unitarian Association.

Mr. Jenkins' subject will be "Humanism as a Faith for Today". Briefly, a Humanist claims that we can build our religion, or philosophy of life, around a man's personal and social ethical concepts. The Humanist does not think it necessary to found religion on theology and the supernatural.

The speaker will also touch on the necessity of a Civil Liberties group in Montreal. The talk will be given at Sir George Williams College, 1435 Drummond Street, at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, December 15th. Members of the McGill Unitarian Club and any others interested are urged to attend this joint meeting.

Sailing Club Film To Feature Student-Manned Schooner

The McGill Sailing Club is fortunate to be sponsoring a film and commentary on the 'Yankee', an American schooner which has made numerous voyages around the world with a crew made up mostly of university students. Their trips have been featured in many leading magazines, notably 'Life' and 'National Geographic'. The film, 'Trade Wind Call' and the commentary will be given by Jack Braidwood, the noted Canadian sailor, who was first mate on the 'Yankee' a few years ago.

The schooner is owned by Mr. Irving Johnson, and every two years he and his wife with a selected group of about 40 students including 5 or 6 girls, set out from Gloucester Mass. for an eighteen month cruise around the world. The students who usually have little or no experience come back from their trip conditioned sailors and have been to such places as the West Indies, Panama Canal, Galapagos Islands, Easter Islands, Pitcairne, Tahiti, Honolulu, Samoa, Solomons, New Guinea, Bali, Zanzibar, Cape Town, St. Helena, and Bermuda.

This first showing of the film in Montreal will be held Thursday, December 6 at 8 o'clock in the Physical Science Centre. Tickets, which may be purchased in advance sale or at the door are $50 for students and $1.00 for non-students.

BROTT TO CONDUCT CHAMBER ENSEMBLE

Alexander Brott, musical director of the McGill Chamber Ensemble, will conduct the 3rd concert of the McGill Chamber Music Society series, on Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th, at 8:45 in Redpath Hall. The program will open with a suite in concert by Rameau, one of the most important figures in early opera history and generally recognized as being the first modern colorist because of the striking originality of his harmonies; and his startling orchestral effects. The next work on the program, Haydn's concerto in D major, published and printed during his lifetime, will feature the world-renowned French harpsichordist, Robert Veyron-Lacroix. It bears a 11. the qualities which mark the style of this genial composer, the beauty and inexhaustible wealth of melody, the perfect transparency, the firmness of design, gaiety, and cheerfulness.

The program continues with a work by Alexander Brott, entitled "Lament" and concludes with "Symphonie Spirituelle" by the Danish composer Asger Hamerik, who was born in Copenhagen in 1843, and studied in Berlin with Bulow, and later in Paris with Berlioz. He left for the U.S.A., and from 1872-1898, was director of the Peabody Institute in Baltimore, where he gave a series of symphony concerts. His compositions are characterized by genuine musical humour and original orchestration.

All the works included in this program will be performed for the first time in Montreal.

Kissing Banned In Front Of Coed Dormitories

Milwaukee, Wis. — (UP) — The men at Marquette University expressed outrage tonight at a school campaign to ban goodnight kissing at coed's dormitories. There were rumours that indignant Marquette males planned to picket one of the dorms tonight demanding their right to kiss.

The University, meanwhile stuck to its ban against any "public display of affection" before any of Marquette's 10 residence halls for women. The rule for homeward-bound coeds and their escorts reads: "Residents are not to stand outside the building or in the vestibule with their escorts at any time." Marquette University women are expected to show at all times that they are worthy of remaining in attendance and accordingly their conduct just as their personal appearance must be above reproach.

That boils down to 'no kissing' assistant dean of women, Mary Alice Cannon, said: "If they can't loiter, they can't kiss, all the dorms face on public streets. They should no more kiss in front of dorms than at 3rd and Wisconsin (a main Milwaukee crossroad)."

Enforcement of the kissing ban was left up to individual house-mothers, but the student newspaper, The Marquette Tribune, said that girls caught smooching were restricted to the Campus for a weekend.

$615 RAISED FOR SCHOLARSHIP FUND BY WOMEN'S BAZAAR

The Women's Union Scholarship Fund now has $781.11 as a result of the Bazaar held in R.V.C. last Thursday. This total is made up of $615.11 made by the bazaar, added to $101 from the China Survey taken last month, and $65 donated by the Women's Fraternities' Pan-Hellenic Association.

The Women's Union wishes to express its wholehearted thanks to those who contributed to and patronized this event. Royal Victoria College, through the efforts of Dr. Roscoe and Miss Sinclair, deserves a special vote of thanks, as do all those who worked on committees and booths.

The money in the fund will be more specifically allocated when the final terms of the scholarship have been drawn up.

THIS IS SPERRY

Three miles high in heavy cloud, travelling near the speed of sound. Here is modern air performance made possible only through the accuracy of the instruments aboard the plane.

Without correct information as to speed, direction, height, horizon, engine performance and cabin pressure, long distance, high speed navigation would be impossible.

Aviation instruments by Sperry make their daily contribution to the progress of the aircraft industry in Canada.

Young engineers who seek a career in the field of electronic research or mechanical development, with freedom to think and act along original lines should contact Sperry.

WE LOST AGAIN

Winter is upon us and McGill's teams in the major winter sports, hockey and basketball, opened up their respective schedules last week. Unfortunately both teams got off on the wrong foot as the hockey team dropped their initial start and the basketballers came out on the short end of the score in three games in the United States. The Intermediate hockey squad gave McGill supporters something to crow about as they faced a powerful sextet which won their opening game of a lengthy exhibition schedule.

The hockey Redmen's loss could well be a costly one. Right winger Ross Hughes was hurt early in the third period of the Varsity tilt and will be lost to the Redmen for an indefinite length of time. He banged up his knee and was limping on it yesterday. He says that he will definitely not play against Laval on Friday night. This means that Redmen coach Rocky Robillard will have to do a bit of line juggling for this week's tilt. Varsity also had a man injured in the Friday night clash as all-star defenceman Dave Jackson suffered a badly bruised hip. Jackson got into the way of one Leo 'the Cannon' Konyk's drives in the second period and after limping to the player's bench remained there for the rest of the game.

OUR BOYS WILL SHINE

During the game the Redmen showed three pretty well balanced lines with the so called 'third line' putting on what was perhaps the best show. Keith Lawes was a standout for the Redmen and also managed to notch one of the Redmen markers. His linemate Warren Allmand, a three year veteran of the Red and White, played the best game that we have ever seen him play in a McGill sweater. He had two excellent opportunities to score. Once Lawes set him up in front of Toronto goaler Ray Dunn, but Dunn just managed to pick off Allmand's drive. Then in the second period Allmand made another good play from close in but his shot to the far side glanced off the goal post. Des Senior, the third member of the trio, played a strong defensive game for the Redmen.

Besides Toronto's old reliables, Ken Linseman, Clare Fisher, Brian Anderson and Dave Stephen, the Blues unveiled some pretty good hockey players. Mike Eliek, Dunc Brodie and Grant Mills were the three that especially caught our eye. It might be noted that all three have seen action in the Jr. O.H.A. ranks. Eliek has played with the Toronto Marlboros and St. Michaels Majors, Brodie with the Oshawa Generals and the Agincourt Hawks, and Mills with the Port Arthur Bruins. All told the Blues have 11 ex-Junior A players. In fact in one of their exhibition games they beat the Toronto St. Michaels Majors of the O.H.A. 4-3. They also racked up an 11-0 triumph over a Senior B team.

INTER HOCKEY START SUCCESSFUL

Switching to the Inter hockey team, Johnny Meagher has come up with a good strong team as McGill returns to the Intermediate hockey scene after a four year absence. The team plays every Wednesday at the MWS and it might be a good idea to go up there and give the boys a bit of support. Game time is 7:15 and admission is free. This week Sir George Williams supply the Braves opposition. Meagher has drilled the team constantly on passing and the squad gave a very good account of themselves in this department last Wednesday. Among the forwards who looked exceptionally good and could be with the Redmen next year are Doug McGregor, John Baziw, Marcel Forcier, Joe Irvin and Gordie Merritt.

McGill's basketball quintet nearly won a pair of games over the weekend. Friday they lost 86-69 to Clarkson, but only after three starters had fouled out. The game had been a close affair until the refs started waving the Red and White eagers out of the game. The Redmen's shooting from the field averaged 35.1% and from the foul line 63%. The difference in the game, 17 points, also came from the foul line. McGill potted the same number of points from the floor as Clarkson as each hit with 26 field goals for 52 points. But the Clarkson squad sank twice as many foul shots as the Redmen to account for the victory. Clarkson sharpshooters sank 34 of 56 attempts while the Redmen sank 17 shots.

The second game of the twinbill saw St. Lawrence top the McGillians by an 80-71 count. But before dropping the contest, the Redmen through an awful scare into the Larries. The homeowners took a 19 point lead and increased it to 23 points before the Redmen went to work. The Redmen continued to peck away at the lead and finally knotted the score at 53-53 in the third quarter. The teams layed it nip and tuck from then on, but the Larries spurted ahead in the last five minutes to win the ballgame. In this game the Redmen's shooting average from the floor was 48.7% while from the foul line it was 65.1%.

EVERYTHING BUT THE FANS

Unfortunately, from a spectator standpoint, the opening of the McGill Winter Stadium was not too much of a success. Less than 1,000 people filed in to watch the Redmen-Varsity game. Considering that 300 people were present by invitation, the student body was not very well represented. For U of M's opener in OUR rink, the Maplewood Avenue gang brought down some 1,400 fans. The Stadium holds 1,519, but it looks like it will never be filled, not with McGill students anyway. There are a few changes that could be made in the arena itself. The bell that goes at the end of the periods wasn't heard after five of the six periods in the two games. Then the scoreboard clock is a bit on the small side with no provision for keeping track of penalties. But in time we're sure that these minor flaws will be corrected.

Take me out to the hockey game...

Here's a shot from last year's McGill-Laval game which the Redmen won 12-4. Brian McCann, back to camera, is seen scoring the Redmen goal. Dick Baltzan (C on sweater) and Leo Konyk are the white-shirted Redmen in the background. Both Konyk and Baltzan are back with the Redmen, but this year they have a new linemate in the person of Ross Hughes. The Redmen will play Laval this Friday night at the McGill Winter Stadium starting at 8 o'clock.

The Montreal Figure Skating Club, operating this year at the McGill Winter Stadium, is open to McGill students, both men and women, on a Senior or Intermediate basis.

A planned program of free skating, figures and dancing is run by the club, and three professionals are available for lessons. It is not necessary to be an excellent skater to join. Seniors skate on Tuesday evenings from 8:00 to 10:30 p.m., while Intermediates may skate on Tuesday nights and Saturday afternoons from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Student fees for the 1955-57 season are $15 and figure skates must be worn. Those interested in joining may register at the Winter Stadium any time during the club's skating sessions, or for further information, may contact Dale English at MA. 6251 (day) or PL. 3373 (evening).

CLASSY formal wear

The Village Smithy

by STUART SMITH

There has been an increasing tendency lately for various sports writers to report that our Canadian boys and girls are being hopelessly outclassed at the Olympics by athletes from other nations. Press reports from many of these writers follow the line of discussion that despite all the fanfare at choosing and sending our Olympic squad, they have piled up a mere thirty or so points, have been in competition which has made them seem alling by comparison, and have won exactly one gold medal; that in Rowing.

These writers go on from here to claim a deficiency in our track and field training systems, etc., and some indicate even if they do not say it outright, that they fall to see the point of sending our "second-rate" athletes half-way around the world so that Canadians can pick up their newspapers and read of the four or five Canucks who came fourth in a heat, hence failing to qualify, or even of someone who picked up two points for finishing fifth in some obscure event.

I would like to take issue with these cynics. They are precisely the same individuals who are constantly bemoaning the fact that Russian state-supported goons are allowed to compete in the Olympics as well as the fact that the United States amateurs are receiving too much expense money. Do these people ever come up with concrete, valuable suggestions? Not on your life!

They would not tolerate the government taking Canadians from private life and supporting them while they train in the hope of winning an extra bronze medal. They will not hear of padding expense money a la U.S.A. so as to encourage one or two more monetary-minded sprinters into competing. They would not think of withdrawing from the Olympics while every other important or unimportant nation in the world is entered. Yet, instead of joining with Canadian sport enthusiasts and Canadian sportsmen everywhere and saying to our Olympic representatives, one and all, "Thanks for doing your best, for training hard, and for performing as sportsmen! Congratulations to both winners and losers alike," these smug individuals would rather write: "Well, our representatives looked pretty bad at Melbourne once again this year. Gentleman, they looked an awful lot better than you do, peering out from behind your columns."

Canada at the Olympics

by HARVEY KOLODNY

Canada now has 26 points at the Olympic games, and it looks like more are on the way. The point total until now has been made up of a Gold and Silver medal in rowing for fifteen points, a Bronze medal in the Equestrian events for four points, three fifth places in swimming, the mens high jump, and the 1600 metre relay, for a total of six points, and a sixth place in the heavyweight weightlifting class to account for the remaining point.

The two points for swimming came when Virginia Grant placed fifth in the womens 100 metre free style event. She swam the fastest race of her life to break the former Olympic record but still placed fifth behind a trio of Australian girls and a young miss from Germany. Virginia's performance, however, looks like it will only be the first of a series of top displays by Canada's women swimmers.

Irene MacDonald of Hamilton, Ontario, threw a wet blanket on the American hopes of making a clean sweep of the diving events as she finished second to Pat McCormick of the U.S. with a total of 73.25 points in the preliminaries of the womens springboard diving championship. Miss McCormick garnered 76.80 points while another American, Barbara Gilders, took third place with 71.47 points. The performance of the pretty Hamiltonian was no fluke. She placed third at the British Empire games in Vancouver, and finished in the second spot behind Miss McCormick in the U.S. National championships earlier this year. The finals in the diving event will be held today.

And still on the swimming front, fifteen year old Sara Barber of Brantford, Ontario, sent Canada's hopes rising as she qualified for the finals of the 100-metre backstroke and the 100-metre butterfly events. Miss Barber finished second in her heat in the backstroke race, and third in the butterfly. In the second qualifying heat of the butterfly event another Canadian swam her way to a final berth. Beth Whittall of Montreal placed fourth in her heat, but her time was good enough to qualify her for the final. Miss Barber and Miss Whittall had times of 1:16.2 and 1:16.9, respectively, for the event as compared with the winning time of 1:11.2 by Shelly Mann of the United States. Miss Barber stopped the clocks at 1:14.3 in the 100-metres backstroke, as compared with the winning time of 1:13.0.

Canada's other entry in the backstroke race, Lenore Fisher of Ocean Falls, B.C., placed seventh and failed to qualify. Miss Fisher had won the event at the Pan-American games last year. Tomorrow's swimming program includes the women's 400-metre relay, and the Canadian team stands a good chance of picking up some points in the event.

Other than women's swimming, the only other place that Canada may pick up points is in the women's gymnastics events. Ernestine Russell, three times voted the outstanding amateur athlete of the year in Canada, is the sole entrant in this event, and although she faces very stiff competition from the Russian women she is being counted upon to pick a few points for the home country.

Women's Sports

VOLLEYBALL

The second to last set of intramural games is to be played on Wed. Dec. 5th. The schedule of the games is as follows:

Time Teams
7:30 Science vs. Phys. Ed. "A"
Phys. Ed. "A" vs. Phys. Ed. "B"
8:00 Science vs. Phys. Ed. "B"
Phys. Ed. "A" vs. Phys. Ed. "A"
8:30 (extra game) Phys. Ed. "A" vs. Phys. Ed. "B"

The success of each team depends on a good turnout.

There will be an intercollegiate practice after the completion of the 8:30 game. Please be punctual.

Women's Swimming Competition
Last Saturday afternoon the annual competition for the Billie Dempsey Trophy took place at the Y.W.C.A. on Dorchester. The McGill team which was entered placed a creditable third. The first two man places were taken by two Quebec clubs: The Y.W.C.A. and the Foyer St. Genevieve. The competition consisted of two sets of figures done by Carol Sheltor of McGill and a duet done by Claire Tucker and Judy Barlow. These formed a team of three.

Next Saturday afternoon McGill is entering two group numbers from the Water Show in the Ashworth Trophy Competition which is being held at the N.D.G. Community Pool. The two numbers are "Asteroids" directed by Sue Mosley with Pauline McCullagh, Pat Orser, Judy Elvert, Andrea Longh, Janet Savage, and Judy Rochester and "Moonmaids" directed by Rose Hochman with Judy Rochester, Sally Sutcliffe, Anne Hamilton, and Rose Roch Unique Bridge Raising Project...

...unique opportunities for Engineers

One of the most spectacular and complicated works required for the St. Lawrence Seaway is now in progress. It is the permanent raising of the southern end of the Jacques Cartier Bridge... the largest operation of its kind ever undertaken anywhere.

The purpose is to provide a minimum vertical clearance of 120 feet above high water level in the seaway ship canal. An interesting feature is that uninterrupted traffic must be maintained over the bridge throughout practically all of the construction period.

The work has been entrusted to Dominion Bridge which built the original bridge in 1929. This project typifies the resources and experience of the Company in the field of structural engineering.

Dominion Bridge, an all-Canadian Company, is the foremost fabricator in this country of bridges and steel structures. Less well known is Dominion Bridge's leadership in other engineering fields. Cranes and other handling equipment, hydraulic machinery, boilers for heating and process steam requirements, mining machinery, refinery towers, pulp mill digesters, oil well machinery—these are but a few examples of the diversification of Dominion Bridge operations.

To-day we have the largest and strongest Canadian force of design engineers in our field. Much of their work is of a pioneering nature, and they are constantly being called upon to solve problems connected with large projects in virtually every type of industry. There is a never-ending challenge. This "Unique Bridge Raising Project" is only one fascinating chapter in their story.

Pictured above during a C.B.C. radio interview on site are two Engineers vitally concerned with this project: Dr. P. L. Pralley, (Centre), well known Consulting Engineer, designed the original structure as well as the raising operation. He spent fourteen years with Dominion Bridge gaining experience before going into private practice in 1920.

Ross Chamberlain, (Left), Project Engineer with Dominion Bridge started with the Company on Summer jobs, where he had experience in the shops, office and on erection work, while studying for his B.Eng. degree at McGill University. He later did post graduate work at the University of Birmingham, (England) and has been with the Company since his return in 1953.

At 27 years old, Ross, working with Senior Officials of the Company, is responsible for the engineering aspects of this great undertaking.

Build a Future with Dominion Bridge

There are interesting careers awaiting young civil and mechanical engineers in Dominion Bridge Company Limited. With 15 plants from coast to coast, we are now engaged in the largest expansion programme of our 74-year history.

You are cordially invited to write us at P.O. Box 280, Montreal, for descriptive booklets or further information on any question you may have in mind. Or telephone our Personnel Department, MEIrose 7-2361. Please mention this magazine.
